

QELi THOUGHT LEADER EVENTS

WORKSHOPS WITH NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL THOUGHT LEADERS

Dr Simon Breakspear's Foundations of Learning Sprints

Monday 29 July 2019 | Bundaberg
Wednesday 31 July 2019 | Maroochydore

Presented by Bronwyn Ryrie Jones, Lecturer and Doctoral Candidate, University of Melbourne

QELi is proud to offer Dr Simon Breakspear's one-day interactive workshop, Foundations of Learning Sprints, presented by Bronwyn Ryrie Jones, Lecturer and Doctoral Candidate, University of Melbourne. Developing the individual and collective expertise of teachers is the number one investment leaders can make to lift learner outcomes. Learning Sprints is a simple, structured and powerful team-based method that enables teacher teams to engage in collaborative, evidence-informed improvement work for student achievement.

Harnessing the collaborative time that you already have available, the Learning Sprints approach can help your school to rapidly improve outcomes through building the collective efficacy of your teachers.

Learning Sprints Approach

A Learning Sprint is a team-based process for enabling the continuous development of teacher professional practices. The process supports teacher teams to define highly specific areas of student learning to improve, design evidence-informed strategies, and to collect assessment evidence to check their impact. Through engaging in these focused, manageable and energising Sprints, teachers have an authentic opportunity to improve their practice while lifting student outcomes. This process draws on the latest research in effective teacher learning and development.

“

The best training I have ever had. I am walking away with a wealth of knowledge and understanding and the desire to continue to make teaching and learning better in my school.

Bronwyn Rylie Jones - Senior Associate Agile Schools

Bronwyn is a Lecturer and Doctoral Candidate at the University of Melbourne (Graduate School of Education), where she specialises in clinical teaching and developmental assessment. A primary school music teacher by background, Bronwyn's interests lie at the intersection of current assessment theory and the everyday practice of teachers. Bronwyn is keenly interested in how teachers can design more reliable assessment tools to reflect what students can do, and what they are ready to learn next.

Bronwyn consults with a range of metropolitan and regional schools, assisting them to develop quality assessment tools which reflect evidence-based progressions of learning.

This program has shifted my mindset and helped me get more focused on the essentials of my position. I have learned to take small steps to have a bigger impact!
